

What's the Problem?

A Game to Increase Understanding of Communication Breakdown

Communication breakdowns happen to everyone. You are following along and understanding just fine – and then you're not! Why? There are three reasons, or sources, for communication breakdown. In this game you will match up each situation with the source of the communication breakdown. Place the communication breakdown card on the correct source of breakdown. Some are tricky and may fit into more than one! Then match up self advocacy activities that can be used to help understanding after a communication breakdown.

Person Listening

Situation

Self Advocacy

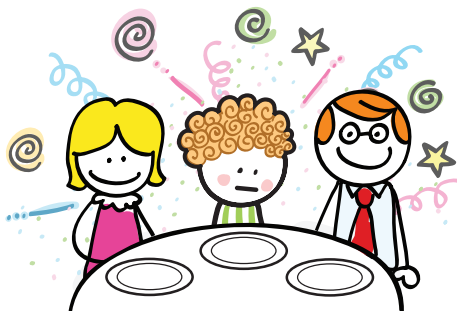

Listening Setting

Play Outside

Situation

Self Advocacy

Noisy Restaurant

Classroom Noise

Person Talking

Situation

Self Advocacy

