

In Celebration of National Audiology Awareness Month

HKNC is excited to announce the release of our latest course;

Audiological Considerations for Those with Dual Sensory Loss

This course is geared towards professionals who support and work with individuals who have a combined vision and hearing loss. However, the content can also be beneficial for deaf-blind consumers as well as their family and friends. This is a functional and practical overview of how hearing loss and the use of hearing devices impact deaf-blind. Topics addressed in this class include; Anatomy of the ear, types of hearing loss and functional implications, audiological evaluations, how to read an audiogram, hearing aids and implantable devices, and assistive listening devices (ALDs).

The creator and presenter of this course, Carol Hamer, has been the audiologist at HKNC since 2002. She shares her wealth of knowledge and experience of the unique needs of individuals who have a combined vision and hearing loss.
